Report on the Feedback from various Stakeholders, 2022 - 2023

Receiving feedback from a range of stakeholders over the years, including employers, professionals, faculty, students, and alumni, has been a beneficial task for PDCH. In order to improve the quality of teaching and learning offered at the college, useful mechanisms and measures have been established based on the opinions and suggestions of the stakeholders.

The primary goal of the feedback questionnaire is to gather stakeholders opinions on academic and administrative matters such as the applicability of the syllabus and curriculum implementation, methods of instruction and evaluation, different teaching and learning resources and facilities, student assistance, etc.

Some of the highlights of the feedback from stakeholders

- Students: Of the 311 students taken part in the survey, almost 85% said that they were "Neutral" to "Agree" with the course outcomes they were given, and about 15% of the students offered suggestions for conducting more workshops and field trips.
- Faculty: Nearly 90% of faculty members "Agree" with the response regarding academic freedom and the opportunities for curriculum development, administration, and evaluation that PDCH offers. However, faculty members also voiced concerns about the assessment and evaluation system should be oriented to the curriculum that is program-specific.
- Alumni: Above 90% 'Agree' with the curriculum updated over the years, while 40% of the alumni students provided suggestion of incorporating recent techniques in clinical practices and curriculum.

Report on the Feedback from various Stakeholders, 2021 - 2022

Receiving feedback from a range of stakeholders over the years, including employers, professionals, faculty, students, and alumni, has been a beneficial task for PDCH. In order to improve the quality of teaching and learning offered at the college, useful mechanisms and measures have been established based on the opinions and suggestions of the stakeholders.

The primary goal of the feedback questionnaire is to gather stakeholders opinions on academic and administrative matters such as the applicability of the syllabus and curriculum implementation, methods of instruction and evaluation, different teaching and learning resources and facilities, student assistance, etc.

Some of the highlights of the feedback from stakeholders

- Students: Of the 145 students taken part in the survey, almost 89% said that they were "Agree" with the course outcomes they were given, and about 11% of the students offered suggestions for conducting more workshops and field trips.
- Faculty: Nearly 92% of faculty members "Agree" with the response regarding academic freedom and the opportunities for curriculum development, administration, and evaluation that PDCH offers.
- Alumni: Above 96% 'Agree' with the curriculum updated over the years, while 30% of the alumni students provided suggestion of conducting alumni meet program frequently.
- Employers: 93% of the Employers were provided 'Strongly agree' to 'Agree' response for opportunities and training provided at PDCH and 62% of the Employers insisted on providing more training on advancement skills.
